McGraw-Hill Education - Europe, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 212 x 134 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Who am I? Where am I going? Why do I feel so stuck? Keren Smedley's new book poses those difficult questions to help challenge old ways of thinking and offers positive tools and ideas to help us move forward. THE SUNDAY TIMES They say 50 is the new 30. With insight, positivity, and brimming with practical ideas and solutions, this book shows us how reaching for the stars at 50+, is both achievable and empowering. Jo Hemmings, Behavioural Psychologist and Relationship Coach When you arrive at the last page of Keren Smedley's wise and entertaining advice, studded with anecdotes and mental exercises, you will not only know more about yourself, you will anticipate a lot more joy from your future. Irma Kurtz, writer, broadcaster and Agony Aunt for Cosmopolitan Short on waffle, long on research, crammed with useful information, suggestions, practical tools and exercises. Tim Willis, Editor, I would recommend this book to any 50-something who is starting to think about what they do next - or those who act as line manager, mentor or coach to individuals who need to address this challenge. Martin Ellis, Partner, Grant Thornton UK LLP Throughout, you feel Keren Smedley is with you, right there knowing, listening, teaching, even beaming. All of us over 50 should read it and do what she proposes. So should everyone on the way to 50 for that matter. Nancy Kline, Time to Think Coaching, UK This excellent book is full of ideas to start afresh and develop a positive outlook on life. Course participants share their challenges and this helps the reader to reflect on their own circumstances. This book prepares the reader for their...
